

A Treasure Trove of Books!

My friend Kim, the owner of Read It Again (and the parent of three of our former students) has asked me to let everyone know that there is a teacher account available to you to use for used book purchase at her shop. Customers routinely donate their credits to a “teacher pool” so that teachers can pay just half the cost of a used book! The store is located on McGinnis Ferry Road and 141 next door to Michael’s in the Kohl’s/Staples shopping center. Happy shopping!

Did you realize that if you return your iPads to be checked in on time the first week of each month, you might just earn a prize?

News You Can Use from Abbotts Hill’s Learning Commons

Week of December 12- December 16, 2016

Please encourage your students to create inspirational quote posters for the morning news! So few have been created this year compared to last year yet the children’s ideas are incredibly valuable and meaningful! Just have them write a phrase that is important to them, decorate the plain white paper, and drop it off at the Learning Commons. Then they can see their words of wisdom on the morning broadcast!

Document
Cameras Are Available!

Four new document cameras are available for checkout! If you still need one, please let me know. Once you begin using it, you’ll never know how you survived without it!